PRESS RELEASE 09/2009

Meier Solar Solutions: Trade fair in Hamburg was a complete success

Bocholt, 28 September 2009. Meier Solar Solutions GmbH, the leading global specialist in the encapsulation of solar modules, has just ended its attendance at the 24th EUPVSC in Hamburg – the most important fair for the solar industry. Many partners and new customers visited our stand, and were enthusiastic about the technical innovations and ongoing developments taking place at Meier Solar Solutions GmbH.

“The positive feedback from our customers and partners at the fair in Hamburg is an absolute ratification of our work”, according to Florian von Gropper, CEO of the specialist engineering company from Bocholt. “The demand for our technologies was sensational,” von Gropper continued. This positive trend is also confirmed by the orders that have been coming in during the last few weeks before the fair. A good reason to look to the future with positive expectations.

Meanwhile, one in three solar modules produced worldwide now stems from a Meier laminator. With over 270 laminators, Meier Solar Solutions has the largest base of installations in the entire solar market. This is further proof of the success and reliability of the products that the company has been developing and producing since 1999.

Based on the current order books, Meier Solar Solutions GmbH has been able to further consolidate its position as the global market leader. The strong product lines “ICOLAM” and “STACOLAM” make it possible for this specialist engineering company to continue along its path of success.
